Must Abolish Unemployment Says Beveridge

TORONTO, June 10.—(CP)—Mass unemployment between prolonged intervals is harmful, Sir William Beveridge, author of the report on social security, told the Allied services here yesterday. The Beveridge report, said last night in an interview with the Edmonton Journal, at the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

TWO POST-WAR PERIODS

"This is like a three-legged stool, which if any leg is missing will fall to the ground. Even if one has a place to stand, there must be maintenance of a second leg, and a third, and there must be assurance of income when men cannot find work," he said.

ACTIVITY IN NORTH

"The only real unemployment can be dealt with by paying a minimum of unemployment insurance—it must be abolished," he said.

"There must be a real social security for the individual after the war. First, after the victory and after the peace, there must be peace and peace and no fear of war. Second, there must be no maintenance of a second leg, and a third, and there must be assurance of income when men cannot find work," he said.

On the Street Cars

It would help to speed up service on the street railway, and perhaps also to prevent accidents, if tickets were sold in stores and not on the cars. The motorman of a one-man car has a full-time job handling his controls, watching the train and so on, and to back up the plans they have laid. The people in the enemy countries are aware of this, for the bombing raids cannot be censorship and Stalingrad and Tunisia can be neutral, despite the lack of a war.

It is important that the motorman be safe, for if the rules were enforced that passengers must not engage the motorman in conversation between stops. However, if he may be a motorman cannot be expected to keep his mind strictly on business while holding up the end of an argument or listening to a passenger. When traffic is congested as it now is, passengers must stand in the vestibule—rules to the contrary—but they should not be allowed to endanger their fellow-passengers and the motorman's job by distracting his attention.

An Island Fortress

Pantelleria has wracked from Malta the unwelcome distinction of being the chief island target located in the Mediterranean. The island, a mile long and of calcareous rock has been strafed by planes and shelled by warships with a sustained intensity altogether out of proportion to its intrinsic value. For the reason of course that it lies about midway between Sicily and Tunisia, and is well situated for the Allies' convoys to pass to and from the eastern Mediterranean—which waterway must also be crossed by Allied forces bound for Sicily or Italy.

The island has been transformed into a 45 square mile stronghold, with powerful guns, anti-aircraft and anti-submarine aircraft planes. The latter, the way, Mussolini must have written off as a waste of money since his planes destroyed the place long ago for their own safety. But its powerful batteries and its good harbor make the island too much of a menace to Allied shipping to be bypassed, and it will accordingly be cleared of the enemy.

The clearing operation is not likely to be long delayed. Home announces that the island garrison was summoned to surrender on Tuesday, and refused. Allied troops may therefore land any day and make Pantelleria the Atu of the Mediterranean.

East and West

The Financial Editor of the Toronto Globe and Mail writes that while the Farmers' Creditors' Arrangement Act was in force in Ontario it proved a hardship to farmers "who, for one reason or another, had sold or wanted to sell their farms." Before this law they could sell at a moderate advance and gain on principal and interest payments to finance their retirement. Too often they found themselves cut off from principal and interest, unable to get back their farms and obliged to accept cuts in principal and interest, even when the debts were paid off. What they were paid, or more. It was a serious blow to the salesability of Ontario farms, and farmers themselves demanded an end to this legislation. It is only a matter of time, I should think, when this will happen in Western Canada.

That the Act tends to discourage the sale and purchase of farms on the installment plan is inevitable. But, in the West at least, for one farmer who wants to sell out a thousand want to stay on their land; and so large a per cent had become swamped with excess debts it impossible to get rid of them. The Federal Government foresees wholesale evictions, and growing relief lines in the cities. The Arrangement Act was accordingly passed to "keep farms on their land."

It has done that in many thousands of cases. The farmers who have suffered anything in consequence are improbable. They were prevented taking over land which they could in the prevailing conditions have neither farmed nor sold. Nor are western conditions yet near enough to make the repeat of the Act possible without inviting the whole of the West to pack up and move to Ontario or the Maritimes. Ontario may or may not be content to be rid of the Act. It is still needed in the West, and likely to be for a long time.

"Prepared to Win"

Mr. Churchill's statement in parliament on Tuesday was calculated to react in two directions. His words must equally inspire confidence in the Allied countries and add to the morale of the Canadian people. In effect he said that the plans for offensive action against the Axis in Europe are complete, the means in hand, and the outcome certain—while he left the Nazis and Fascists to wonder where and how the blow would fall with the certainty that it will fall soon, will be delivered with crushing power, and will fall thick and fast until victory is attained.

This statement may be measured against another speech which was delivered just three years ago—when Premier Masini straddled onto his balcony to proclaim that Italy had won the war and with the spoils of already conquered France and the soon-to-be conquered British nations. Allied fortunes were then at low ebb. The war was supposed to be about over, and the time came to divide the loot. In Italy, as in Germany, that speech will be recalled with peculiar keenness wherever Mr. Churchill's language is allowed to reach.

For the Churchill speech differs from the Mussolini speech in that it is based on facts and figures, and not on hope. The Allies have the armies, fleets and air power to back up the plans they have laid. The people in the enemy countries are aware of this, for the bombing raids cannot be censorship and Stalingrad and Tunisia can be neutral, despite the lack of a war.

It is important that the rules be safe for passengers before getting aboard. For the Churchill speech is not to be expected if the rules were enforced that passengers must not engage the motorman in conversation between stops. However, if he may be a motorman cannot be expected to keep his mind strictly on business while holding up the end of an argument or listening to a passenger. When traffic is congested as it now is, passengers must stand in the vestibule—rules to the contrary—but they should not be allowed to endanger their fellow-passengers and the motorman's job by distracting his attention.

Ramirez says that "for the present" Argentina will remain neutral. Still, that is not the only thing to be done by the country's foreign policy. It depends on what Ramirez means by "neutral." The Allies are likely to wait and see. They can get along without Argentina better than Argentina can get along without trade.

The Japanese apparently were not the only ones who prepared for a monsoon season offensive in China. The Chinese forces and their American allies show no intention of halting their counter-attack. The Japs are probably preparing it. The enemy forces have shown however that the "do or die" tradition does not prevent them retreating when that is good for their health. Their run for the down river bases may not have been orderly but it was fast.

We Can Win This War

By W. F. Kieran (Colonel, U.S. Army)
Author of
"DEFENCE WILL NOT WIN THE WAR"

INSTALMENT XI.

"Third Man Plays High"

It is always in presenting the enemy with two alternative modes of action, either one of which is highly disadvantageous to him, either one of which will expose him to the possibility of decided defeat, that right strategy consists.

This is the operation called "surprise" and it is the secret of war. It is the secret of war and due to the nature of limited objectives which we have pursued so disastrously so far, it has been forgotten. But the secret is in the employment of such a strategy that our only chance of victory is to win.

The operation is not ordinarily to be performed with success during the early stages of conflict between two great powers, when the opposing armies are still sparing for war and before either has committed himself to a definite line of action. On the other hand, conditions would be ripe for the employment of such a strategy against the enemy, having once undertaken a definite line of action or campaign, when he is compelled to extend himself. In any case, the turning movement before battle will always be the best prelude to the prelude that the enemy has in his power.

With this short preliminary discussion to guide us, it should be apparent that Hitler has committed himself many times over in the Polish, Norwegian, French and Balkan campaigns. And it is beginning to be apparent that no adequate attempt was ever made to do this in the Italian campaign.

It is very true that, considering the overall inadequacies of the Allies' armament, particularly as regards tanks and planes, compared with that of the enemy, it would have been impossible for the former to have won the war, even if the flank of the Germans exposed or to strike at every joint in Hitler's armor. But though they were

Spain, and the breaking of his power in Europe.

In strategics, as in bridge, nothing is more important than to know what the enemy is likely to do. That is to say, one always risks taking a card which might or might not take a trick in order to do one's best. And it is impossible to overestimate the importance of this principle in the conduct of war. The only waging for the largest stakes that man ever risked since the Great Game was the war of 1914-18.

It is still not too late to learn a valuable lesson from what the Poles might have done in Hitler's plan of conquest in 1939 if they had been able to hold out a mass of maneuver to rupture the German lines of communication.

It is also not too late to learn that, once Hitler has his stranglehold set.

What they have been defeated by that they have done? Of course they would have been defeated.

Wellington defeated at the Serres and the French at the Pyrenees on the lines of Torres Vedras, which was destined to prepare the way for the defeat of Napoleon in Spain, and the breaking of his power in Europe.

RATED as the team to beat even before the season commenced, Walk-Rites were pulled down into second place in the Senior Girls' Fastball League last night, but the Army and Navy Pats had to go a couple of extra sessions beyond the allotted seven frames on doubleheader evenings to register the 3-2 victory.

Just a half-game now separates these two clubs, but Aircraft Repair is also coming right along in the competition. A half-game below western Canadian champions, Corvettes, C.W.C. and Bomberettes follow in that order in the six-team circuit, the strongest girls' loop to operate here for many years.

Theresa LaFleur won last night's extra inning affair with her triple, but the steady work of pitcher Kay Bennet and cover Kay Hein is credited with a big share in the first setback of the year for the strong Walk-Rites club.

The other half of the double bill was not without its thrills, either, despite the fact that one-sided score, Bette Hoover hitting two homers, a triple and a single in four trips to the plate—made a bad evening for the Toronto Pats. The Aircraft Repair had three for four, one a double and Elaine Potts was high for Bomberettes with two for three.

Aircraft Repair Girls Defeat Bomberettes 16-4

AIRCRAFT REPAIR chalked up their fourth win of the season Wednesday night when they defeated Air Force Bomberettes 16-4 in a Senior Girls' Fastball League game played at Kingsway Park.

Bette Hoover led the batting parade with four hits in a little number of trips to the plate, getting three homers, a triple and two singles.

Bubbles Ferrier of Aircraft and Elaine Potts of Bomberettes first attack was a doubleheader, with uppers to Ferrier, got a triple, a double and a single in four times at bat and Potts singled twice in three trips to the plate.

Jean Ward held the losers to seven hits, while the Repair girls collected 11 from their bats.

Aircraft Repair came through with three runs in the first inning and added six more in the next to take a 9-0 lead which increased in the remainder of the game.

The losers scored two in each of the four remaining frames. Aircraft added one more in the fourth, one in the fifth and another in the sixth to account for their 16.

Nels Nelson, Famous Skier

Dies Suddenly at Field

FIELD, B.C., June 10.—(CP)—Nels Nelson, "iron man" of the ski trails who set a world ski-jumping record in the '20s that stood for six years, died in his sleep here early Wednesday, aged 49.

It was in 1925 that Nelson soared 240 feet on the famous hill which he designed himself at nearby Revelstoke.

Although his heart and legs of an athlete in a hunting accident impaired his jumping, he was still able to leap 120 feet a few months ago.

Nelson was born in Norway and arrived in Revelstoke in 1912. He was considered as a boxer with the champion of the world. Ballyhoo a few years ago his arm was shattered by an accidental shot while on a winter hunting expedition but he travelled on skis for several years.

After that he entered slalom and downhill competitions with only one ski pole but was always among the winners.

Nelson was one of the most active promoters of western skiing and president of the Western Canadian Ski Association for a number of years.

Besides his widow, there are three children and seven others, three of whom are in the Canadian army.

Theresa La Fleur's Triple Settles Extra-Inning Fastball Struggle

Army and Navy Pats Beat Walk-Rites 3-2

Winners Take Over Lead in Girls' League

THREE bagger by Theresa LaFleur in the second extra inning, combined with an error gave Army and Navy Pats a 3-2 victory over Walk-Rites, who came from the Senior Girls' Fastball League game played at Kingsway Park Wednesday night.

The daily schedule for the girls' calls for three games, 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Being late for practice brings the letter to take over sole possession of first place in the girls' league.

Weekend, in bunting the Army and Navy club to it's fifth victory of the season held the losers to seven hits in the nine frames while Elsie Vaughan allowed six.

Betty Hoover, who relieved Elsie in the fifth, kept the winners under control until LaFleur came through with her triple. Catcher Jim Heim also played an important role in the victory.

The Aircrafters won their last two starts, recording a fine brand of softball.

The Senior Girls' League

Bulldog Donated For Auction Sale

A pure bred British bulldog, brother to Captain Kidd, recently presented to the R.C.N.V.R. in Edmonton, has been donated to the Edmonton District-Peace River Association of Baptist churches, Edmonton.

After being sold at auction in the Market Square, in aid of the "Milk for Britain" fund, the bulldog was purchased by a man known by the name of "Skipper Churchill."

He is three years old, sired by Winnie, and has been a member of the Canadian army for several months.

Mr. Lewis, who is also representative of the North Baptist Foreign Mission Board, New York City, on behalf of the British government, said that in that country the Bolivian church is growing up, learning to stand on its own feet.

The bulldog will commence at 2:30 p.m. with the sale of livestock and at 4 p.m. the city lot will be auctioned. The bulldog will be auctioned at 8 p.m. and immediately after the new breeds and animals will be shown. The proceeds of the sale of furniture will go to the higher bidder. The sale will commence at 8 p.m.

Donations will be accepted and may be made by phoning any Edmonton Auctioneer or 22314.

Inquest Is Planned In Graham Death

Inquest into the death of John Hume Graham, 42, a local aviator, who died in Royal Alexandra hospital Monday night, will be held Friday afternoon. Detective William McDonald, coroner's officer, announced. Wednesday, Dr. F. A. Kellie, coroner's assistant, will preside. Graham was a returning soldier, having served overseas in the first Great War and in the Second World War. He was a member of the Presbyterian church and was born at Clackmannan, Scotland.

Food subsidies cost Britain $60,000,000 during the year ended March 31.

Chief in Hospital
Chief Constable Matthew Black, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, was admitted to the hospital Wednesday evening, it was announced Thursday. "Chief" Black, who has been suffering from an attack of pleurisy, has been confined to his bed since last weekend. His condition was reported by hospital authorities as being "about the same."

Total cost of war savings stamp issue to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, which will be issued after 14 days, amounts to $1304. Open from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily, the stamp will be of steel finish, although pre-sent plan calls for mostly wood finish.

Further Variety
The outside elevations of the homes will vary to give further variety of the appearance of the buildings.

A re-survey of the Norwood district largely to be made to provide larger lots for the buildings, the present survey in this territory covers only 33-foot lots. The average size of the lots will be 50 by 100 feet. An average cost of the homes will be $4,000.

Donates Dummy To Kinsmen Sale
A three-and-a-half foot wooden dummy, which is well dressed and strikingly realistic, has been donated to the Kinsmen's patriotic auction sale by Percy Plowman, chief caretaker at the Legislative Building.

Mr. Plowman spent most of a month making the dummy, which he calls "Charlie McCarthy." Wooden arms and legs, a space for an electric speaker and special features make the dummy a unique item. A former wood-turner by trade, Mr. Plowman thinks the dummy will find a buyer among servicemen.

Liberals Caucus
Discusses Ways
To Speed Session

OTTAWA, June 10.—(CP)—The Liberal caucus yesterday discussed ways of speeding up the house of commons in order to bring the session to a close as soon as possible.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King said it was an harmonious meeting and that the members were agreed on everything possible should be done to shorten the session.

It is understood the house will begin sitting on Wednesday and
Friday evenings very soon.

Official List
War Casualties

R.C.A.F.

OTTAWA, June 10.—(CP)—The R.C.A.F. casualty list of the war is as follows: 1000, the latest night names added, as killed on active service overseas and dying, including those in active service.

The deceased are as follows:
Lieutenant C. G. Purvis, R.C.A.F., to seek redress by way of compensation for the loss of his service in the war, was not served.

Mr. Purvis told the court that the removal of the furniture, which he had been using in his house, was the main reason he had to leave the house.

Three men were listed as killed in the war, including one man who had been injured in an automobile accident.

Following is the latest casualty list, with official details:

OVERSEAS
KILLED ON ACTIVE SERVICE

MISSING ON ACTIVE SERVICE
DIED IN SERVICE

MISSING ON ACTIVE SERVICE

Court Orders
Furniture to Leased Home

When Nick Tedoruk, owner of a 1000 sq. ft. house at 1307 10th street, was informed that his lease had been terminated, he refused to leave the house and the Control board had to remove the furniture.

Mr. Tedoruk had refused to pay the monthly rental charge against an American occupant of the dwelling.

It is understood the house will begin sitting on Wednesday and
Friday evenings very soon.

World News Highlights Presented in Picture Form.

Flood Waters Hit Cities, Too

Though rich agricultural areas of six midwest states suffered most heavily from floods, the seething waters have hit the cities, too. The photo shows the main business street of Joplin, Mo., which the overflowing Shoal Creek and Spring River put under three feet of water. Two companies of the Missouri State Guard were called out for patrol duty.

Stars at Dawn

Gray in fog-tinted dawn, a row of Vought-Sikorsky F4U's are seen under the tail of another star-spotted Corsair fighter as they await delivery to the Navy. These swift fighters fly 400 miles an hour and have already smashed many a Jap plane in the Pacific.

Canadian Pacific Spittires Take Toll of Hun 'Planes

The two Spittires presented to the Royal Canadian Air Force overseas by officers and employees of the Canadian Pacific Railway from the proceeds of their novel Golden Aircraft Fund have had remarkable success. They have downed 14 Japs. News Service. Pilots flying them have shot down at least seven. They have also shot down and captured up two probables, and, in addition, Canadian Pacific's own R.A.F. were the first to shoot down a Canadian plane when they won the Distinguished Flying Cross.

The two fighter planes, pictured on the upper right of the layout above, were paid for by the sale of all the shares in the Canadian Pacific, to a fund originated by Miss Gladys Cleveland (upper left), of the treasury department in Montreal, who is shown rolling the news of war out of the barrel and into a model C.R.E. train.

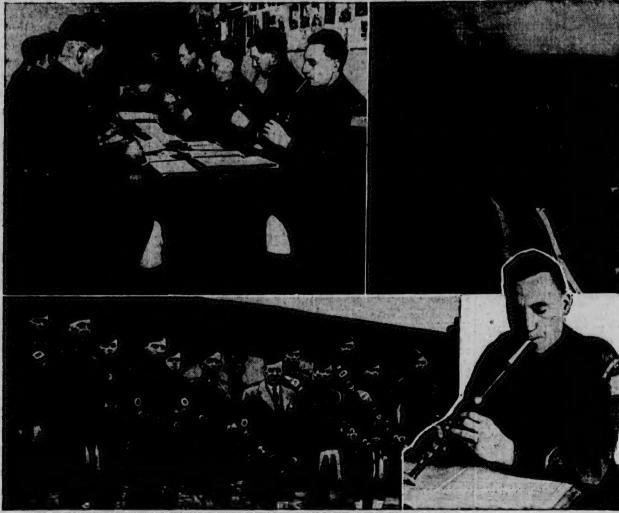

The two men, right, are Captain D. G. (Eddy) Mallon, D.F.C. of Halifax (left), who made 46 sweeps with Canadian Pacific III; and Flight Lieutenant G. B. (Scotty) Murray, D.F.C., also of Halifax, who destroyed one enemy aircraft, damaged four and had two probables in 27 sweeps with Canadian Pacific I.

In Print

Jane Wyman, featured by Warner Bros. in "Princess O'Rourke," models a print dress which she selected for two reasons. First because it is a good print in ways a favorite with the men; secondly, because of its soft, feminine lines. The dress has a belt which ties in back as is the sans which ties in front above a double peplum. She wears a belt, gloves, and pumps, and a back-of-the-head calet trimmed with red velvet bow at the front.

Canadian Pipers Study Their Art in Scotland's Ancient Capital

Pipers with the Canadian Army Overseas have recently completed a course of schooling at the British Army's school of piping in Edinburgh, Scotland's ancient capital and seat of the skirling art. Here they are studying their specialty. At top left a class tunes up during a practice session. Canadian and British pipers attending the classes are pictured lower left with the chief instructor, Pipe-Major Ross (centre). Canucks in the group include Piper Robert Mackie, Vernon, B.C.; Pipe-Major Sam Scott, Ottawa; his brother Andy Scott, and Piper John Mitchell of Montreal. A view of the historic city which the Canadians enjoyed is shown top right, while at lower right Piper Andy Scott of Ottawa "gives" in true Highland style as he concentrates on a practice lesson.

Far East Chief

Gen. Joseph W. "Uncle Joe" Stilwell of the China-Burma-India front relaxes in jacket and torn pants at his Carmel, Calif., home, before flying back to the front.

Journey's End

Ships of an Atlantic convoy arriving at their destination lend a fitting glimpse of beauty to the ugly business of war.

Yugoslavia's Still "the Balkan Powder Keg" For Jittery Germans

Even though these ragged Yugoslav patriot-guerrillas stand with upraised arms, the German soldier searching them goes about it as gingerly as if he feared to find a live bomb in the captive's pocket. These guerrillas were caught in the hills from which their comrades have harried the Nazis ever since Belgrade fell.

This young Yugoslav partisan fighter, wounded battling the Nazis, was photographed after capture. Captive guerrillas get short shift from Nazis.

A Nazi soldier examines a cylinder of supplies, mostly explosives, which Germans claim British plane dropped by parachute to help Yugoslav guerrillas, whose unceasing forays against the invaders have kept their country an ever-dangerous powder-keg for the Axis occupation forces.
